

Title: The Joys of Teaching

Speaker: Prof. HV Sahasrabuddhe

Time, Place: Fri. 13/9/19, 12noon, KD102.

Abstract:

Learning should be a joyous tour of discovery. But somehow it has become a dreary chore. Mathematics is in particular feared instead of enjoyed. Some efforts at correcting the situation are already being made, but much more remains to be done. We review the existing scene, some resources, and discuss what each of us can do.

About the speaker:

Prof. Sahasrabuddhe was a Professor of CSE at IITK. He shifted to the University of Pune and was instrumental in establishing the CS dept. there. His recent interests are in computer music esp. in the Hindustani music tradition and the teaching learning process.